(Appropriate for all attorneys)

On March 13th, 2018, Dr. Ursuline Bankhead and Katelyn Niedermier, Esq. will offer an educational experience addressing issues of Diversity and Inclusion. This educational offering will explore the ways the culture of the legal profession interacts with under-served and minority populations. We will review some of the unique challenges specific populations face when entering the legal system and possible ways to recognize and address those challenges in an effective manner. A sampling of the topics will include communication styles, ethics, and recognizing the value of diversity. Participants will have an interactive experience and should leave the training understanding ways to recognize, understand, and appreciate diversity during professional interactions both with peers and clients. Ultimately, participants should leave with the understanding the importance of an inclusive setting for working with clients.
